Robert Madayag Appointed to Board of the Management Division of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers

Atlanta – Robert Madayag, associate in the Atlanta office of Woodcock Washburn, has been selected to be a director of the Management Division of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers (AIChE). The Management Division of the AIChE provides information and programming directed to AIChE members that are managers or intend to become managers. Robert was nominated because of his past involvement with the AIChE, which included being a panel member at the 2008 AIChE national meeting, as well as his knowledge of the interaction between intellectual property and management decisions. The AIChE is the world's leading organization for chemical engineering professionals, with over 40,000 members from over 90 countries. Robert's term begins in 2010 and will be completed in 2012.

Robert's practice at Woodcock Washburn focuses on patent prosecution, portfolio development, and licensing. His practice reaches a variety of technical areas including chemical and electrical engineering as well as business methods. Robert's diverse technical background is well-suited to provide counsel in areas where technologies converge, such as nanotechnology, medical devices, and semiconductors.
